

VETERAN LIGHTHOUSE KEEPER HAS RESIGNED

Capt. Williams 25 Years on Boon Island

It took Capt. William C. Williams over a year to bring himself to resigning his quarter-century keepership of the lighthouse on bleak Boon Island, off this harbor. He has done it, however. His household goods were brought ashore last week, and this week the veteran keeper and his wife expect to bid the wave washed rock a long farewell.

It is believed, though not officially announced, that First Assistant Keeper William Blackwood will be promoted to the keepership and Captain Williams is merely carrying there until the appointment is made.

Keeper Williams is one of the oldest lighthouse men in point of service on the coast. When his twenty-five years were up on Aug. 5, 1910, he decided that he wanted thenceforth a home where his front yard was less likely to be washed into the sea each winter, and stated his intention of resigning at that time. The lure of the sea was still insistent, however, and Captain Williams took a year to think it over.

Boon Island is only an acre in extent, but the granite light tower surmounting it is 123 feet high, the loftiest on the New England coast, and known to all mariners. In its ex-

PLOT TO BLOW UP NAVY YARD BALKED BY TIMELY DISCOVERY

Finding of Dynamite Hidden in Framework of Gigantic Crane Sends Workmen Scrambling Down in Terror

--Lives of 500 Endangered--Probe on at Charlestown Reservation

Officials of the Charlestown Navy crane, too frightened to keep at work, are busy today probing an alleged plot to blow up the reservation, which came to light yesterday with the discovery of three heavy sticks of dynamite in the gigantic floating crane, at Pier 9.

The explosive was found through accident by workmen welding hammer about a foot away. One of them stepped over to examine the spot where he was to use his hammer next and saw the dynamite secreted in the framework of the crane.

The discovery caused a panic among the 100 men who were at work repairing the crane, most of whom were ironworkers. They all dropped their tools and scrambled from the yard in the immediate vicinity were hundreds of other workmen, probably 400. They were also struck with consternation.

No time was lost in notifying the yard officials and they hurried experts of the hull division to the scene. The first thing they did was to remove the dynamite, using the greatest precaution. Then a thorough investigation was started. After the explosive was out of the way, the men went to work again.

There was no occasion for the use of explosive in the repair work being done on the mololith of iron and steel, nor in that particular section of the yard.

The crane has already met with three mishaps and is known throughout the yard as the "hoodoo" crane. About three months ago it mysteriously sank at one of the docks in the yard. Just previous to its being submerged it had been inspected by officials and considered ready for work. Only a short time previous it had been towed from New York. On that trip it went aground.

It is one of the most powerful cranes owned by the government.

NEW "SUPERVISION" BOARD

Governor Robert P. Bass has appointed a committee, authorized by a special act of the legislature last April, to study the workings of the system of "centralized supervision and direction" of charitable, penal and reformatory institutions, as it is termed, and the committee will begin its work with an investigation of the management of the state institutions of New Hampshire where boards of trustees and commissioners are now in control before going out to see how the centralized system works in states where it has been adopted. One Manchester man is on the committee.

The committee is as follows: H. E. Boynton, Portsmouth; Dr. John E. Staples, Franklin; the Rev. John J. Brophy, Manchester. Fr. Brophy is chaplain of St. Joseph's orphanage, the Sacred Heart hospital, the Old Ladies' Home and girls' orphanage and St. Joseph's orphanage, and has been closely associated with charitable and institutional work for years.

The committee held its first meeting at the state house, Concord, Tuesday, and organized with the election of H. E. Boynton of Portsmouth as chairman. The committee will begin its work by looking through the state institutions of a charitable, penal or reformatory character and observing the merits and defects of the system.

EUREKA GETS 4TH PRIZE IN NASHUA

For the second time this week, the Franklin Pierce Veteran Firemen's Association has had its hand in the Eureka, on the firing line, doing good work at Waltham, Mass., and Nashua. In the latter city on Wednesday they captured fourth money on the state fair grounds, coming home with sixty dollars to the good. Only six machines entered for the payout. The summary is as follows:

THE ARMY IN FINE CONDITION

Washington, Sept. 7.—That excellent condition in all branches of the United States military and naval service will be shown to exist by the annual reports of the War and Navy Departments, now in preparation, is the opinion of officials of both departments. The report of the War Department is nearly complete, and will be sent to the President next month. Reports for the other branches of the service will be completed soon.

The reports of the War and Navy Departments will show that rumors that there has been an epidemic of suicides among officers of all branches of the service are utterly unfounded. The rumors have caused much uneasiness among army and naval officers. The reports will show that the record for suicides in the past year was lower than for several years past.

Records now being prepared in the office of the adjutant general of the army show that no army officers on the active list committed suicide in the past fiscal year, as against two who killed themselves last year. The Navy Department will not have such a good record in the past fourteen months. The suicides of Lieutenant Philhart, engineer officer at the Washington Navy Yard in New York; Commander Frank Marble, at Newport, R. I.; Lieutenant Osborn, at Norfolk, and Machinist Gus Williams, at Philadelphia, have given rise to the report that all records of deaths by suicide in the army and navy will be broken this year, in the opinion of officers of the navy. These suicides have been caused by conditions having nothing to do with the service, it is said.

The percentage of desertions in the army is expected to be unusually large this year, caused to a large extent, officers of the adjutant general's office say, by the maneuvers along the Mexican frontier. When there was no war there were many desertions among disappointed men.

The percentage of desertions in the army for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1910, was 3.66, while the percentage in the navy was 5.50. This same year the percentage in the British army was only 1.18. The record made during the fiscal year of 1909-10 was the best made since 1898, and was the source of gratification to officers of the army.

Statistics of the Navy Department show that thirty-four officers died from various causes within the fiscal year. No report is made generally as to the cause of the deaths.

Ten Rooms For Guests Being Added to the Rockefeller Mansion at a Cost of $1,000,000.

John D. Rockefeller's magnificent residence at Pocantico Hills, near Tarrytown, N. Y., is being remodeled. The alterations consist of the addition of ten new chambers for guests. These rooms will cost $100,000 each. The work will occupy two years. While the addition will not destroy the symmetry of the structure, it will have to stand tenaciously while the changes are being made. In the meantime Mr. and Mrs. Rockefeller will live in the Kent home-stand on the estate. The picture shows the work under way.

A WILD ONE.

Portsmouth, N. H., Sept. 6.—Three days adrift at sea Miss Elsie Henderson, 21, and Thomas Dennison, 22, of Dover, were picked up six miles off the coast by the yacht Rob Roy of Lynn.

When rescued by Commodore Robert Strong of the Lynn Yacht Club in their helpless little catboat, which was being tossed about by the waves, Miss Henderson lay unconscious in the cockpit, while Dennison, exhausted, was raving in delirium. They are now in Portsmouth Hospital.

Dennison is a member of a wealthy family in Dover. Miss Henderson is a leader in the younger society set there.—Boston Record.

NORTH HAMPTON WOMAN MISSING

James Hobbs of North Hampton, has reported to the Lawrence police that his sister, Elizabeth Hobbs, left her home at North Hampton, Monday, about 7.30 a. m., while she was in an irresponsible condition and went to Exeter. She left Exeter at 9 a. m., and was traced to South Lawrence.

She had a ticket for Andover, as she has relatives there, but she did not call on them. It is thought that she got off the train at South Lawrence. The police there believe that she probably remained on the train and went to Boston. Mr. Hobbs went to Boston to report the missing woman to the Hub police.

Miss Hobbs has been in a sanitarium in Nashua. She is about 24 years of age, five feet, five inches tall, has dark brown hair and eyes. She wore a brown dress blue sailor hat and carried a white sweater on her arm. Miss Hobbs had a solitaire diamond ring and also a ring with a blue stone and five diamonds. She acts bewildered and would attract attention. She had $2 when she left home.

THEY ALL ADMIRE PLUCK.

It cannot be gainsaid that when San Diego, first of all, perhaps to make such claims, started to talk about holding a big exposition to celebrate the opening of the Panama Canal, little faith was entertained by those who heard of it that San Diego could or would undertake seriously such a big proposition. A city with a population, then, of some 30,000 people, it was held that the holding of an exposition was far beyond the ability of that community. But San Diego was ambitious and she was growing and she was to be the first port of call under the stars and stripes after leaving the Pacific end of the Canal. So the people of San Diego went to work with a will raised $1,000,000 by popular subscription for a starter and voted bonds for another million to finance the fair, and then people began to take serious notice. Then the State of California voted half a million more to help the thing along, and now there are enough promises of exhibits and subscriptions to make it certain that the Exposition will entail an expenditure of fully $10,000,000, and there is more to come. The fact is that people love to see an exhibition of clear grit, and San Diego is putting up as fine an exhibition as was ever seen. The city has a population now of 45,000 people and practically every one of them is a booster and an upholder. Under such circumstances there can be no such word as "fail."

posed position winter gales have their terrors for even its hardened tenants. At such times gigantic seas have often washed entirely over the island, battering in the doors of the dwelling houses, flooding the ground floors, stopping chimneys and extinguishing fires with icy spray. Hencoops, board walks and flower gardens have at times been washed completely off the island. Bowlders, tons in weight, are thrown up from ocean's bottom during unusually heavy gales and remain for months until a worse storm again rolls them off into the depths.

Panic stricken sea birds, driven helpless before gale, are attracted like moths to the huge candle of the tower and dash out their lives against the lighthouse's fluted lens. After terrific gales bushel basketsful of dead birds have been picked up around the base of the tower. The great shaft itself sways in the worst storms despite heavy iron braces. In winter the sea is rarely smooth enough to permit launching a boat and passing vessels furnish much of the news of the outside world.

Many wrecks have occurred on Boon island at which the keeper and his assistants have effected several brave rescues. Captain Williams, however, had won a reputation in this line previously. When the brig Hattie Eaton was dashed to pieces on Gerriah island in March, 1876, he alone had the courage to make his perilous way to the wreck over grinding, crunching debris and rescue the only survivor of her crew of nine.

The British schooner Gold Hunter met her fate at Boon island in December, 1882, when the temperature was 4 degrees below zero and his fellows saved her crew of six, though after the ordeal the rescuers and rescued were almost equally incapacitated from exposure.

Since Keeper Williams went to the island six vessels have been totally wrecked there and many more have gone ashore but subsequently saved. The rock's standing, for as early as 1710 the terrible wreck of the British ship Nottingham Galley occurred there. She was 76 days out on a voyage from London to Boston and had a crew of 24 men. She lost her reckoning and stranded in mid winter. The crew scrambled to land, but for twenty-four days thereafter suffered all the horrors of Arctic cold and starvation. The body of the wretched carpenter was devoured before relief came from Portsmouth.

The Williamses will reside at Kittery Point, Me.

19 ARRESTS IN 24 HOURS

In the past 24 hours the Portsmouth police have made no fewer than 19 arrests, pretty nearly a record for that period in the history of the department.

Of all these individuals who have got themselves in limbo, it stands to the credit of this city that only one is a resident here.

Most of the nineteen were taken in for drunkenness.

The others were arrested for street walking, assault, adultery, larceny, or keeping a disorderly house. Scold have the police station cells held such a motley crowd.

The arrests were made in various sections of the city and no one or two officers monopolized the business.

This catch in the police dragnet of one 24 hour period will likely spur up the forces of the patrolmen to point moral against any reduction in the number of officers.

SECRECY IN DIVORCE PROCEEDINGS

Mr. Justice Goff of the Supreme Court of New York is entirely right in his objection to secrecy in divorce proceedings, says the Providence Journal. His opinion was set forth in a case where the motion was made that the papers should be sealed. The usual argument in favor of secrecy, of course, is that public morals are benefited. In many cases the testimony consists of unpleasant details which do not make edifying reading. The feeling that they ought not to be made public is natural. But it may be doubted if public morals suffer much in consequence. That the records of the court should be as accessible to the public as the court itself is, as Mr. Justice Goff points out, is a rule of general application. To make divorce proceedings an exception to the rule is to think both fallacious and mischievous. "Public morals cannot be protected by secrecy," there is a duty in the matter it registers rather with the press than with the court; for, however desirable publicity may be, there is much to be said against the widespread circulation of so-called news in which the larger portion of the public can have no legitimate interest.

Even those who clamor for secrecy in such matters do not pretend that such a rule could be universally enforced. There would still be cases in which the details came to the general knowledge. "It is a gross delusion," says Mr. Justice Goff, "to attempt to conserve of protect public morals by suppressing the testimony in one case, while in hundreds of other cases the meretricious details are publicly narrated in court or set forth in extenso in the reports of referees, which are open to public inspection." And he adds:

"It is mischievous in that the real reason is not so much the protection of public morals as it is the cloaking with secrecy of the names of the persons involved, and this suggests the idea of privilege and favoritism. Of all evils which may assail the administration of justice this is the most insidious, and great care should be taken to avoid even the appearance of exceptions for favored persons."

This last consideration is perhaps the most important of all. It is notorious that the divorce laws have been abused by wealthy persons who, by evading the jurisdiction of the courts of their own State, have been able to secure a degree of "privacy" elsewhere. The request to seal papers almost always comes from persons of this class; whereas any scandal among humbler folk is immediately exploited for all it is worth. The feeling that there is one law for the rich and another for the poor, however unfounded it may be in most cases, has none the less done an enormous amount of social harm. There are abuses enough in the matter of divorce even under the tolerable certainty of unpleasant publicity. To remove this restriction in any way would be a loss to public morals, not a gain. Mr. Justice Goff does not put the case too strongly.

THE COUNTY FAIR CROWDS

Once more the rolling year has brought us around to the cattle show season. It is customary for the Smart Alecks of the metropolis to press to rail at the rustic character of the people there assembled. The artist who covers "cattle show" fails of editorial commendation unless the farmers are depicted with bushy hair and superfluous whiskers, and the women are set forth with hoop skirts and floppy bonnets. No doubt the artists who cover these events never get any nearer the scene than the golf links just outside the city limits. For their benefit we might inform them that you can see some pretty good styles at the modern county fair. Occasionally there are traces of whiskers, but no more so than you can see on Broadway.

As for the women, how they have spruced up since fashion cuts began to circulate about the country. It takes a lot of presence to run a grange meeting, and the country women oftentimes look a good deal smarter than the Suffragette element you get in the women's clubs in the big cities.

As for the up-to-date country girl, there isn't a finer feminine specimen afoot. She has gone far enough in the world to know what good clothes can do for her, and not so far as to imagine that the paint brush is mightier than rosy human flesh and blood.

BIRD'S EYE VIEWS

Of course you can wear your straw hat until snow flies. There is no law against wearing it all winter, for that matter.

The fact that one of the largest mountain hotels will remain open until October 16 is one of the most auspicious sign of the season in New Hampshire.

One of the dangers of being married in an aeroplane is that the first falling out is liable to result disastrously.

The Portsmouth Chronicle and Herald never printed an editorial note more timely and true than this one: "It is none too early for the Republicans of New Hampshire to get together."—Concord Monitor.

Those people who have invented a furnace to cool the house should push their sales early in June in this climate. By the time September comes the cool nights make people anxious to place orders for the kind of a furnace that will heat the house and do it thoroughly.

AMONG OUR EXCHANGES

A Field for Doctors.
The surprising fact is made public in the Medical Record that there is but one fairly well trained physician to every 400,000 population in China, or one doctor for communities as large as St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Washington or Boston.

During the recent plague in China the government appealed for outside medical aid, offering in its extremity cash bonuses and paid-up life-insurance policies for $20,000 to volunteers. Obviously there has long been need of a medical school in China. Now Harvard has decided to establish one in Shanghai. Two-fifths of the sum of money necessary for this project has been contributed by the legislatures of Oregon, Washington and California, these Pacific coast states being particularly interested in lessening the danger of Oriental diseases coming to their ports.

A corps of physicians educated according to the American standard will qualify as successful missionaries in a country where hygiene and sanitation are little understood.—New York World.

The Hobo Convention

Let not the hoboes be discouraged. What if the attendance at the national convention has been disappointing. What if divisions have arisen as to policies, and even as to the meaning of the word by which the brethren are known? Their fate is the common fate of all. In each movement for the common weal some trouble must fall. Some slews must be hard and stormy. If there were no difficulties in the way there would be no development of resources.

Take capital. It has its troubles. It organizes for progress and protection. But it has a hard row to hoe. It is not always certain of its interests, or what may be done to forward them. At a national convention of manufacturers held several years ago it was seriously proposed that the tariff question be taken from the hands of Congress and given into the hands of a commission. At the time nobody seemed to know that such a thing would be impossible. At any rate the proposition carried, and the convention was quoted for it.

Take labor. It organizes for progress and protection, and has done much valuable work for itself. But at its conventions differences arise as to what old policies are accomplishing, and what new ones should

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY
Gleanings From Files of Portsmouth Chronicle

The publishers of the New Hampshire Gazette notifies its friends and patrons that its subscription list has not paid the expenses of printing for a number of years; that the stagnation of business and other causes have so diminished its advertising and other resources that unless some aid is afforded it must stop after next week.

Some of the loss occurred by the sudden change from Douglas to Breckenridge; some more by the change of administration, and the loss of an office in the customs, and of the U. S. laws, treaties, and advertisements.

Proposed New Road.—Mr. S. H. Tarlton and others, citizens of Newington and Portsmouth, have petitioned for a Country road across the farm of the late Hon. James Pickering, as the lane now runs, to pass near the residence of Reuben L. Lane, Esq., to Sherburnes road, a little to the north of the Robinson farm.

The town of Newington and the city of Portsmouth have been notified, and it is said the former will object to the road.

A mutiny on board the ship William at Greenock, is said to have been caused by a fear on the part of the crew, which was composed of negroes and mutinates, that they were to be sold into slavery on arriving in Boston.

A Gigantic Beach Party.—The sons and daughters of old Salisbury, Mass., from all parts of the United States, are to meet in a social picnic at Salisbury Beach, on the 17th of September. They will be accompanied by hundreds who go "there ever, will make him bow in respect to see."

be inaugurated. The leaders have warm discussions, and out of them grow many important suggestions in labor's behalf. General agreement as to details might produce stagnation.

If, therefore, capital, which is the product of labor, and labor, which is employed by capital, have internal differences, which in the end rebound to their benefit and the public benefit, why should hobodum which aims merely at existence without either capital or labor, be discouraged when "Weary Willie" and "Meandering Mike" match intellects against each other, and swap observations and observations about the cause and the state of the Union?

Newport Sundays
We read that "society was handled without gloves" by the Newport clergy last Sunday. One of the clerical complainants says: "Entertainments Saturday evening and Sunday now seem to be the habit in Newport." The reporter adds: "For years golf, tennis, dinners, sailing parties, dancing parties, other amusements and driving 'do'—plain and fancy, we presume—have been held on the Sabbath day."

Society is indeed a shining mark. But society does not monopolize these festivities. We find in this same chronicle of Sabbathical amusements at the famous old summer resort the following items:

"For the citizens of Newport today (Sunday) who wanted amusements, there was a ball game between the Haverhills and the Trojans, which Mayor Boyle and other City Fathers attended.

"The public beaches were crowded. Boats and trains brought thousands of excursionists into Newport. Restaurants, ice cream parlors and other places were open to anyone.

If you were thirsty, it was hardly an effort to secure beer or other drinks.

"Newport evidently wants this sort of thing, otherwise Mayor Boyle would not be filling his fifteenth term."

Society is not alone in wanting an open Sunday. But it has to stand the brunt of the criticism. No doubt a good many who attended the ball game, including the popular mayor, went to church first.

Which, we wonder, is setting the pace, society, or the common people?—Boston Journal.

POEM SAVED LIFE

Governor Read "They Hung Bill Jones" and Commuted Sentence.

Salem, Ore., Sept. 7.—Frank L. Stanton's poem "They Hung Bill Jones" saved the life of Jesse P. Webb yesterday, so Governor Oswald West said.

Webb, who was convicted of the murder of William A. Johnson, a ranchman, instead of being hanged at noon, was the guest of honor at a convict dinner in the penitentiary. Webb's sentence was commuted by Governor West five minutes before the time appointed for the hanging.

Governor West said he was influenced to grant the commutation by reading the poem.

GYPSY MOTH APPEARS

Discovered Again in Kittery, Eliot.

The gypsy moth, which it was believed had been exterminated in the woods of Kittery and Eliot, has been discovered again in large numbers. Inspectors A. Osgood Pike, Charles E. Tolman and Edward M. Sadler of the gypsy moth commission in Maine have arrived with crews and will renew the campaign which was discontinued two years ago after a long and supposedly successful fight.

This has been a good season for Portsmouth business men.

EAST ROCKINGHAM POMONA GRANGE

All-Day Session Held in Kensington
The East Rockingham Pomona grange met yesterday with the Kensington grange in that town in an all-day session. In the morning the fifth degree was worked and George P. Frost of North Hampton read a paper on "Corn Growing."

For the afternoon session, which was public, the lecturer, Mrs. Mary Miffin, arranged a program, including piano and drum solos by W. Percival and Waldo Hilliard of Kensington, prayer by the Rev. B. J. Shaw of Kensington; discussion, "Should Women Serve on School Boards?" with Oscar S. Rowe of Gilman grange of Exeter in the affirmative and the Rev. R. A. Burrows of fidelity grange of South Hampton in the negative; piano solo by John Dreighton of Kensington; essay, "Wild Flowers of New Hampshire" by Miss Annie F. Tucker of Amesbury, Mass.; address by C. Charles Hayes, past master of East Rockingham Pomona grange and a reading by Miss Alice B. Miffin of Exeter entitled "Old Mists."

RAILROAD MUST PAY
Echo of the Lake Sunapee Station Fire of Three Years Ago

Notwithstanding the provisions in the regulations of the interstate commerce commission that a railroad company may not be liable for more than $100 in case of loss of a passenger's baggage, the supreme court of Massachusetts in a decision just handed down holds that the railroad may still be liable for the full value of the baggage when the passenger knew nothing of the regulation and did not assent to it.

The court overruled the exceptions taken by the Boston and Maine railroad company to a verdict of $21.53 awarded by Judge Harris of the superior court, after a trial without a jury, to Katherine Hooker of Los Angeles, Cal., for the burning of her two trunks and a suit case when the Lake Sunapee, N. H., railroad station was burned on Sept. 17, 1908.

"There is no doubt," says the decision, "that by the common law of this commonwealth the plaintiff was not bound by the limitation of liability, of which she was wholly ignorant. She could have been restricted in right of recovery only by express contract or by assent to a known regulation."

RIVEN AND HARBOR

The Appleore float stage has been towed in from the Shoals by the tug Piscataqua and placed in winter quarters at Appleore wharf.

Schooner Dorothy Palmer is chartered to load another cargo of coal for this port.

Schooner Rebecca Palmer is reported to have struck bottom while being towed up from the lower bar-Lor Tuesday by the Portland tug Cumberland. Her hoodoo, it would seem, is still working.

The sea was so rough outside on Wednesday that the tug Seylla was unable to make her customary trips to the dumping grounds with mud scows from Pepperell Cove.

The International, oldest and smallest of the Reading railroad's seagoing tugs, paid one of her infrequent visits here Wednesday and tied up alongside steamer Munnatawket. The International seldom comes this side of Cape Cod.

Steamer Munnatawket's government inspection, scheduled for Wednesday, was postponed.

CONCORD IS EXPECTANT

Ready to Give P. A. C. Team Big Reception.

The crowning event of the baseball season in Concord will be the meeting of the Portsmouth A. C. team and the Haymakers for the Sunset League championship of the state on the Gim club grounds Saturday afternoon. The Portsmouth team will come to Concord on a special train and will bring a band of rooters with them that will compel Concord fans to turn out in support of their rivals. Good weather the crowd inside the fence should approach the proportions reached in some of the famous meetings between Concord and Manchester in the New England League.—Concord Monitor.

Danderine

Stops Falling Hair and Destroys Dandruff

Makes the Hair Grow Long, Heavy and Luxuriant and We Can Quickly Prove It

If You Wish to Double the Beauty of Your Hair at Once, Just Get a 25 Cent Bottle and Try This

Surely try a Danderine Hair Cleanse if you wish to immediately double the beauty of your hair with little trouble and at a cost not worth mentioning—just moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and draw it carefully through your hair, taking one small strand at a time, this will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt or any excessive oil. In a few moments you will be amazed. Your hair will be wavy, fluffy and abundant and possess an incomparable softness, lustre and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Besides beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of Dandruff, cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

Danderine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. It's exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful. It at once imparts a sparkling brilliancy and velvety softness to the hair, and a few weeks' use will cause new hair to sprout all over the scalp. Use it every day for a short time, after which two or three times a week will be sufficient to complete whatever growth you desire.

You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25 cent bottle of Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

TO MAKE TRIP BY SPECIAL TRAIN

The arrangements have been completed for the first game between the P. A. C., the winners of the local Sunset League, and the Haymakers, the winners of the Concord league, which will be held in Concord on Saturday next. A special train will be run from this city, leaving at 12.30 returning after the game. The fare will be the same as usual if 75 go and if 100 make the trip better rates will be secured. The indications are that there will be a large number of the club members accompany and root for the team, and in addition a bunch of fans. It will make a pleasant trip with a good game and all the fans should make the trip if possible.

The team will play as follows: C. Woods, cf; Wilbur, c; Newick 1b; Abie, 3b; Hutton, ss; W. Woods lf; Clark, 2b; Jewell, rf; Locke, p; Morange and Trueman substitutes.

BITS OF SPORT.

The P. A. C. baseball team are sure to be accompanied by a big bunch of rooters to Concord on Saturday when they play their first game with the Haymakers of that city. The locals will use Sperry Locke in the box and if he gets by that bunch as well as he has in the Sunset league the veteran will be entitled to a place in the history of baseball in this city that will be hard to duplicate.

I wonder how Dr. Rolier feels after that stuff he put out about the great "Hack," who was made such a mark of by Frank Gotch. That farce will set back wrestling in this country a good many years.

The members of the Portsmouth Country Club are well pleased with their showing at the annual golf championship at Rochester this week. They took home three out of the four cups offered and should have made a better showing in the championship. But the luck was breaking bad. In all probability the meet next year will be held over an eighteen hole course and one of the White Mountain courses will be selected.

Harold Hilton, the English amateur golf champion, who is here to play in the national championship next week, has proved that he will be a hard man to beat. The first day over he made Garden City course of 75 which is fine golf and on Wednesday he made the famous Myopia course in 79, which is fine. Hilton will however have his work cut out for him to win the National championship from such men as Travis and Evans.

The new boxing law in New York seems to be working out pretty well and if not abused by fake fights, etc. it will give the fight fans some good sport this winter.

OBSEQUIES.

Mrs. Mary J. Robinson. The body of Mrs. Mary J. Robinson, who died in Hanover, N. H., Sept. 3rd, arrived in this city Wednesday afternoon. Committal services were conducted at the grave by Rev. Dr. Robie of Greenland. Interment was in Harmony Grove cemetery under the direction of H. W. Nickerson.

Eugene H. Adams. The funeral services of Eugene Henry Adams, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Adams, were held at Nickerson's chapel, on Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock, Rev. F. H. Gardner officiating. Interment was in Newington under the direction of Undertaker H. W. Nickerson.

SPINE BROKEN

It is a case in which a man with fractured spine has lived, and Mr. Hall's case is the more remarkable for the fact that two vertebrae or sections of vertebrae have been removed from his spinal column and he is still able to walk.

He brought suit against the American locomotive company for $15,000 or damages for injuries received on Dec. 2, 1905, while in the employ of that company. On that date he was working on the roof of a building at the company's plant on Canal street and accidentally fell to the ground, a distance of 43 feet. He claims that the company was responsible for his fall through not instructing him in the danger of his position and through not providing him with proper tools, ropes and ladders.

He claims that his back was broken in the fall and that he sustained other injuries and was compelled to have two vertebrae removed from his backbone. At the present time he claims in his plea, he is partially paralyzed and crippled for life. He sets his damages at $15,000.

Mr. Hall, after his accident, was practically unconscious for a month and nine months afterwards he went to the post graduate hospital in New York, where he was operated upon before submitting to the operation he was told that in more than 100 instances such an operation as he was to be subjected to had met with failure, and there was not on record a single instance of success.

Mr. Hall's skull was fractured and one of his arms broken by the accident, besides the injuries to his spine. His back shows a cavity where the vertebrae were removed. The operation was a rare one and attracted much attention among surgeons who watched the partial recovery of the patient with interest. When Mr. Hall was able to walk about he went back to the company and was given employment as an assistant timekeeper until recently, when he was "laid off." Being laid without means of support he instituted the suit for damages. He is 40 years old and lives with his family on Hanover street.

MOCK COURT TRIAL

Prominent Citizen Will Be Charged With Stealing a Rooster

For some time the entertainment committee of the Epworth League of the First Methodist church have been looking for an entertainment that would be refined, instructive, exciting and fun-provoking, and at length have found it in a mock court trial. Crowded houses and delighted audiences have been the rule wherever these have been given.

The entertainment will be in Association Hall, on Monday evening, September 18th, under the supervision of Col. A. V. Newton of Worcester, Mass., who originated his form of amusement.

It will be assumed that one of Portsmouth's prominent citizens has paid a midnight visit to the henhouse of another well known citizen and taken therefrom a valuable Plymouth Rock rooster, without the consent of its owner. In other words he will be charged with larceny of the fowl.

A large number of well known citizens will take part in the trial and there will be lots of fun. All the rules of a regular court of justice will be observed.

PORTSMOUTH THEATRE

The Roys, an unusually clever team of singers, talkers and dancers, open a three-nights' engagement at the Portsmouth Theatre this evening. Engraved His Way to Freedom. Charley Ulrich, one of the world's greatest counterfeiters, was tried and sent to the penitentiary in Columbus, O., for fifteen years. He was a model prisoner, and he was allowed to have a little shop in the prison yard. One day he picked up an old circular saw blade in the yard and engraved on it a portrait of William Allen, who was at that time the Democratic candidate for governor. It was one of the most perfect portraits ever engraved. When Ulrich had been in prison for seven years, President Hayes pardoned him through the intercession of the warden, Colonel Linn, who thought it a shame that such a clever artist should be shut up. This he then set him up in an engraving shop in Columbus.—McClure's.

GERMANY ACCEPTS FRANCE'S TERMS

Paris, Sept. 6.—Advices received here today from Berlin intimate that the German Imperial Chancellor, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, has indicated his acceptance of France's proposals, presented last Monday, to the German Foreign Minister, Herr von Kiderlen-Waechter, by the French ambassador, M. Cambon, looking to a settlement of the Moroccan dispute. The French Foreign Office, however, maintains an attitude of reserve regarding the progress of the negotiations. Despatches which look as though they had common origin at the French embassy in Berlin, received today by several Paris newspapers, also indicate that an early agreement between France and Germany in the Moroccan dispute most probable.

DID NOT VIOLATE CODE

Washington, Sept. 7.—The German cruiser Bremen did not intentionally violate the code of international courtesy by holding torpedo exercises recently in Buzzards Bay, without the consent of the U. S. government, according to unofficial advices reaching Washington.

This warship was given authority last May to conduct maneuvers in Chesapeake bay, and, it seems, the commander of the vessel believed it was necessary to ask for a renewal of the permit for the ship in so short a space of time.

It had been intended to hold the torpedo exercises several weeks ago in a bay in St. Lawrence suit, it is said, but as the Bremen was hurriedly ordered to Haiti during the revolution, she was unable to execute her program of maneuvers in Canadian waters.

MANUFACTURERS CROSS BORDER INTO CANADA

Dominion, with Reciprocity, Getting Ready to Welcome an Invasion of American Dollars
Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 6.—The vanguard of the anticipated American invasion, invited by reciprocity, is already in sight.

Already large areas of private lands near Ottawa and along the St. Maurice River have been taken up by American paper interests, and it is understood that representations will soon be made to the Quebec authorities regarding the investment of many millions of dollars in the export taxation is removed. In Quebec one proposition involves the expenditure of $30,000,000 for the construction of mills, water powers, and etc., to manufacture new print in that province, also cardboard and similar products and chemical pulp for further manufacture into higher grades of paper.

All this capital and more, it is understood, is ready for immediate investment, although most of it will await the decision of the provincial government on the Crown lands timber question.

CHICKEN FURNISHES A STEW AND GOLD NUGGETS

Grass Valley, Cal., Sept. 6.—A chicken bought in market for 75 cents supplied an excellent meal for the family of County Surveyor Fred M. Miller, and in addition had gold nuggets enough in its gizzard to make up $1 in coin of the realm when sold for their actual value.

Mrs. Miller found, after the chicken had been killed and cleaned, that there were several bright objects in the water after the gizzard had been opened, and upon examination discovered that they were little pieces of gold. They were saved and later weighed, and found to be worth $1.

This and other instances of a similar nature makes the value of a chicken rather a difficult matter to determine in question was brought in Nevada City, lived in Grass Valley for some time, so that the honors for producing the gold food must be divided between the two places.

THE GIRL IN THE TAXI

Delights a Big Audience at the Portsmouth Theatre.

The season of 1911-12 at the Portsmouth Theatre was opened on Wednesday evening with "The Girl in the Taxi" as the offering, and it was greeted by a large audience. The comedy was seen here last season and it made a great hit at that time and last evening's performance was if anything better. The company is somewhat superior to the original cast, and the piece was staged and costumed beautifully. Ward De Wolf as Bertie Steward was in the lead and he made a most favorable impression. He is exceptionally clever and never loses his character get out of the running. He sings very well and in fact is all that could be desired for the part. He got great support from Frank Kirk as John Steward, his father, a rare old sport, and W. J. Walsh as Percy Peters. The ladies in the cast were all clever. Miss Lucille Gardner as the Girl in the Taxi, was pretty, graceful and clever.

The cast:
Marilla, madd to Mrs. Stewart, Gertrude Barthold
Clara Stewart, wife of John Steward, Gertrude LeBrandt
Walter Watson, a friend of the family, Richard Bar.
John Stewart, banker, president of the Society of the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, recently elected a member of the Society of Arts and Letters, Frank Kirk
Bertie Steward, his son, Ward DeWolf
Mary Peters, his niece, May Gerald
Percy Peters, her husband, W. J. Walsh

Frederick Smith, a manufacturer of perfumes, also a major of the 37th New Jersey National Guard, True S. James

GASOLINE RAILROAD CAR

One Being Tried Out in Maine With Success.

The first gasoline propelled car to be put into operation on a New England railroad is being run on the tracks of the Bangor and Aroostook. It runs very smoothly, their being at the start a slightly perceptible vibration. The average speed is about 40 miles an hour, although 62 miles an hour can be obtained without special effort.

The car, which is about one year old, is the first manufactured of its type. Several of these cars are being tried throughout the country.

The advantage of this car is especially demonstrated along short lines, where the cost of operation per mile being about 25 cents, which is considerably less than railroad men usually figure. Yet the cost of repair for such cars is an important consideration, for the steam shops are not usually equipped with facilities for repairing cars of this type.

The car is 67 feet in length and weighs 95,000 pounds. It is provided with a pilot and a searchlight. Next toward the rear is the baggage room and the man in charge of this room also acts as brakeman, so that with the engineer and the conductor the crew numbers but three. Beyond the baggage room is the smoking compartment, fitted with leather upholstered seats and having large electric fans suspended from the ceiling. Outlets along the roof of the car allow for plenty of ventilation.

The entrance is in the middle of the car, and to the rear of this entrance is the regular passenger section, which resembles an observation coach, there being windows continuously around the sides with no entrance at the ends. The seats, which are of heavy plush and very comfortable, will easily accommodate three persons each.

The car is lighted and heated by electricity and is up to date in every respect.

The gasoline engine, which is directly connected to the electric generator, is an eight cylinder, four cycle model, having the cylinders set in two rows of four each, at angles of forty-five degrees to each other. A separate engine generates the compressed air which is used to start the large gasoline engine, and also to supply heat and light, being a two cylinder four cycle model.

SWAM THE ENGLISH CHANNEL

William Burgess, After Years of Effort, Gets Across—First Time Since 1875.

After years of effort Wm. Burgess, each time was forced to give it up, an English swimmer, on Wednesday yesterday he was in the water twenty-four hours and most of the time swam the English channel and equalled the feat of Capt. Webb in 1875, place so hard to swim. Several Burgess has made eleven different attempts to swim the channel but Captain Webb's feat but all failed.

The gasoline electric type of motive power is used, rather than the direct gasoline connection, because the efficiency derived from the source of power is greater and because of the flexibility of control. Greater efficiency through this combination is obtained because the highest speed of the gasoline motor is obtained when the car is running at a low speed and the efficiency is greatest when the motor is going at full speed.

SECOND MONTH OF "OVER NIGHT"

It Starts on Its Second Month With Capacity Audience as the Established Farce Comedy Success

There is no doubt about the success of "Over Night" at the Shubert Theatre in Boston, where it begins its sixth week next Monday evening. It has demonstrated most clearly its popularity, for the house has been crowded at almost every performance, and laughter and applause may fairly be said to have rocked the theatre. Seldom has a farce comedy come to Boston which has pleased the public to such an extent as "Over Night." It is laughable all the way through the three acts of the performance. Laughter, which at first is sporadic and intermittent and which grows and grows until the house is fairly in convulsions.

What need is there to analyze the cause as long as this gray old world registers a decisive majority one way is satisfied and pleased. The honey-mooner. A close break would leave the issue open to renewed agitation, thus blanketing other matters equally deserving of a day in court. Somewhere in New England prohibition has been losing ground. The outcome in Maine will show how far that Commonwealth is insulated. —Boston Post.

Sub caliber practice with the small arms takes places in the forenoon and the big games come in for due amount of attention every day.

The gunners are so proficient that when night target practice is carried out next Monday night, it behooves all shipping to keep well out of range of the guns.

The night attacks on the fort are proving a big feature of the drill week. Parade is at 6:50 p. m.

Capt. C. B. Crowley was officer of the day today. Capt. Hancock is battle commander at the encampment and Maj. C. B. Hoyt is fire commander.

The Portsmouth company is more than holding its own with the companies from Dover, Exeter and Laconia in smartness and efficiency.

Many invitations have been issued to the reception of Governor Bass next Monday afternoon, and it promises to be a brilliant event.

Fine weather has favored the artillery men so far, the rain of Wednesday causing them little discomfort.

THE WONDERER: WONDERS

Why Portland towboats are grabbing some of the business on the Piscataqua?

If the Portsmouth colored population is not on the increase?

Why a few of the holes on the lower end of Market street were filled with crushed stone and the rest left as they were?

If the veteran firemen didn't feel very strong on Wednesday night when they came home from Nashua with that $50?

Why the Gaelic football players have all their match games out of the city?

Why the Speed club does not start on that Philadelphia trip?

Who will work the badger game at the fort this year?

If everything has got down to snoring in the public works department?

If there are not quite a number of October weddings to occur?

When the Boston and Maine will spend that $50,000 at Dover?

How many of the old street numbers are still on the houses of the city?

If the owners of all those fast pacers at the Creek will put their skates on the race tracks this fall?

If those two young men employed by a West end grocer have recovered from the exhaustion and excitement caused from that four hours work on that disabled automobile in the woods of Rye?

If that New Castle resident has not got a little on his friends, especially those with the trade of carpenter?

If anybody got a photograph of the man from the island town shingling a house beginning at the top of the roof?

If Pete has got that ten dollar bill back yet?

If the Eureka boys were not going home at Nashua?

Why they cannot be just as strong

Piano Truth

In buying a piano it is better to be sure of quality rather than the price.

Price is something that takes care of itself, naturally.

If you get a Quality Piano, you cannot make a mistake at any rate.

Packard Pianos

are Quality Pianos every time. They are manufactured regardless of what the selling price will be. Therefore the intrinsic value of the Packard is superior to most pianos.
